welcome to our 2023 impact report!

It is with immense pride and deep gratitude that I present you with our 2023 impact report. In these dark times, your generosity has generated a beacon of light for thousands of children, young adults, disadvantaged women and elderly citizens. Operation 'Swords of Iron', which continues even as I write these words, has created so many new challenges in our already challenged society. I am proud of the way in which you, our donors, and we, the organization on the ground, have handled ourselves in these testing times, swiftly adapting to changing needs while steadfastly intensifying our commitment towards serving the underprivileged communities relying on us for help. I have no doubt that with your ongoing support, we will continue to go from strength to strength.

Dr. David Portowicz, Founder, The Jaffa Institute

I would like to begin by thanking our donors, leadership and staff for their remarkable achievements in 2023. It hasn't been an easy year, to say the least. From the splintering within Israeli society to the unspeakable horrors of October 7th and the war that has followed, there has been no lack of challenges. But through it all, I have seen nothing but resilience, courage and leadership from every member of the Jaffa Institute Family. The impact report before you contains a lot of impressive figures. While we read, it is important to remember that behind each figure is a person - a child, youth, woman or senior citizen - whose life and future have been significantly changed for the better, whether through educational opportunities, therapeutic intervention, vocational training or even something as basic as food. You did that. We did that. Well done to all and once again, thank you! Mr Chaim Hurvitz, Chairman, Board of Directors

Winston Churchill once said: "We make a living by what we get; we make a life by what we give." Thanks to your generous giving, the Jaffa Institute's devoted staff and our shared passion for improving the lives of those who are less fortunate, the Jaffa Institute has once again made a significant and enduring impact in 2023, affecting the lives of an unprecedented number of beneficiaries. The achievements described in the following pages are a testimony to the visionary thinking, the generosity and the hard work that went into creating hope for so many. We couldn't have done it without you.

Mr Yechezkel Portowicz, CEO, The Jaffa Institute

Our Vision

We envision a future where every individual and family in our service areas has access to the resources they need to break the cycle of poverty. We believe that by providing educational, nutritional, therapeutic, and vocational tools to impoverished families and individuals of all ages, we can empower them to become self-sufficient and contributing members of society. Our goal is to create a community where everyone has the opportunity to thrive and reach their full potential.

Our Mission

The Jaffa Institute assists severely impoverished residents of Tel Aviv, Jaffa, Yehud, Bat Yam, Kiryat Malachi, Rishon Lezion and Bet Shemesh. Our mission is to provide disadvantaged individuals with the educational, nutritional, therapeutic, and social support they need to escape the cycle of intergenerational poverty.

Our Activities

To this end, we run over 40 diverse programs, touching the lives of thousands each year, whether through educational programs such as our daily after-school centers and residential facilities for vulnerable youth, our twice-monthly food security initiative, our cyclical vocational training course for unemployed women, weekly wellbeing programs for the elderly, including Holocaust survivors, and other therapeutic and social programs. While our programs vary in frequency and methodology, all strive to improve the lives and futures of those we serve by addressing the most difficult and complex challenges with which they are faced.

Impact Report - Education

After-School Enrichment Centers

Project Description

This project consists of 20 After-School Educational Enrichment Centers, serving approximately 300 disadvantaged children aged 3-17 in Jaffa, South Tel Aviv, Bat Yam, and Yehud. Eight of these Centers are designed to serve children with special needs. Programming combines academic support with enrichment activities and individual counseling for those in need. A hot meal is also provided for each child.

Quick Facts

- Population served: Children/Adolescents aged 3-17
- Number of participants: Approximately 300
- Number of activity hours: approximately 20,000

Key Achievements

- 13% increase in social function among participants
- 20% decrease in disciplinary issues among participants
- 20% increase in personal-emotional function among participants

Eli*, a fourth-grader, has just finished his third year at the 'Yithak Sadeh' after-school enrichment club. Last year, Eli was suffering from multiple emotional challenges that affected his behavior, and he was involved in many disciplinary incidents at the club. However, through the bond formed between Eli and the staff and the bespoke therapy program designed specifically for him, he had the chance to experience success, which gave him a sense of empowerment. This in turn facilitated a marked improvement in Eli's emotional state, behavior and academic achievements. Recently, Eli was selected by his school to participate in their exclusive "Young Excellence Achievers" program.

Bet Shemesh Educational Center (BSEC)

Project Description

BSEC is a residential academic and therapeutic program serving approximately 250 teenage boys from some of Israel's most impoverished communities, with a specific focus on at-risk boys from Haredi families and immigrants of Ethiopian descent. The students, who are all considered to be at risk of dropping out of school, prepare for matriculation (Bagrut) exams, and are also encouraged to explore non-academic interests and talents, as well as to participate in volunteering and social activities. Educational enrichment is supplemented by extra-curricular opportunities such as acting, carpentry, robotics and a new, state-of-the-art Automotive Technology program, 'Autotech', teaching the multidisciplinary skills required for auto maintenance and repair of the latest model vehicles.

Quick Facts

Population Served: Adolescent boys aged 13-18

Number of participants: Approximately 250

Key Achievements

- 100% of senior students completed high school
- 80% of graduates enlisted in the army, of whom 60% opted to undertake pre-army training for more meaningful service
- 20% went onto higher education

Yossie*, a new graduate from our Haredi Integration Program, attended six different schools before coming to BSEC, negatively impacting his self-confidence and state of mind. Yossie's struggle ended when he arrived at BSEC, as evidenced by his testimony: "I finally came to a school where teachers and counselors truly care and where everyone was going through the same things as me. Together, we changed - we're the same guys but with new attitudes. The address doesn't matter. It's the people that make BSEC what it is."

Ukrainian Immigrants in Bat Yam & Rishon LeZion

Project Description

This project was initiated to meet the immediate needs of the many Ukrainian immigrants living in Bat Yam and Rishon Lezion. The Bat Yam program provides Ukrainian children and teens with sports and science activities, Hebrew lessons (also for adults), academic tutoring for teenagers, Israeli culture programming and a summer camp, as well as a special afternoon Enrichment Center for special needs children. The Rishon Lezion program, carried out by Keren Rishon Lezion, an independent non-profit organization working with the local municipality, provides core subject classes, private tutoring and art and music therapy, as well as trips around Israel, cultural programming and a summer camp. Additionally, both immigrant programs address other needs such as housing, nutritional security and psychological/emotional therapy. Altogether, the two programs combined serve around 700 children and adults.

Quick Facts

Population Served: Ukrainian immigrants in Bat Yam and Rishon Lezion

Number of participants: Approximately 700

Number of activity hours: Over 6,000

Key Achievements

- 85% of participants improved their average grades at school
- Significant progress in Hebrew speaking, reading and writing among the children, as well as increased motivation to improve their Hebrew skills
- Deeper understanding of Israeli culture and history among program participants

Anna* was part of the emergency immigration wave of May 2022 and went straight into grade six. She arrived in Israel with very impressive achievements in all subjects but, like all new immigrant children, she had to deal with the language barrier, leading to low self esteem and loss of motivation. Her first math exam result was 30 out of 100. Anna's mother turned to the Language Center in the Absorption Department in Rishon for help. Several months later, we received a message from Anna's mother thanking us profusely as her daughter had received 85 in her math exam and was also starting to integrate into her class.

At the end-of-year ceremony, Yoni expressed how significant Jump Start had been for him, and how it enabled him to graduate from high school with full matriculation.

I have been volunteering with two elderly ladies: Sima, who prefers visits to talking on the phone, and Dina, who likes to complain about everything, but once you get to know her she is very special!"

Col. Ze'ev Shaham, affectionately known as "Zonik," is a captivating figure in Israel's history. His life story weaves through the fabric of twentieth-century Israel, embodying courage and resilience. Col. Shaham co-founded The Jaffa Institute with Dr David Portowicz in 1982. His legacy stands as a testament to dedication, sacrifice, and the enduring spirit of Israel.

Science Mobiles

During a cooking workshop in our Mobile STEM Kitchen, Amira said: "This is the first time I have smiled since October 7th. Thank you!"

Summer Camps

Project Description

Our summer camps operate for the full two months' vacation throughout July and August, serving children and adolescents attending our programs in Tel Aviv, Jaffa, Bat Yam, Yehud and Bet Shemesh, as well as children of Ukrainian immigrants. The program ensures participants have a safe and enriching environment during their summer vacation while allowing staff to continue to provide them with emotional support. Anya*, a single mother to a newborn who recently immigrated to Israel from Russia, was having a very hard time adapting to motherhood and had no support. Michal, a volunteer in the Center's 'Mother to Mother' program, began visiting Anya to help her, talk to her, guide her and listen to her, while also building her confidence, accompanying her on outings to help her get used to leaving the house with her baby and so on. A very special bond formed between the two mothers and they stayed in touch. Recently, Michal's son-in-law was injured during the war in Gaza and she needed to care for her grandchildren. Anya immediately offered to help her as she wanted to repay, if only a little, the wonderful help she had received from Michal when she was the one in need.

Boys Youth Center

Project Description

This center was established to serve at-risk teenagers from troubled backgrounds who require social-emotional, nutritional, and educational support to overcome their challenges. Reflecting their numbers in the area's diverse population, most participants are of Ethiopian descent. The center holistically addresses the adolescents' academic, therapeutic and nutritional needs and provides participants with a safe and nurturing alternative to unsupervised evenings on the streets.

Lior * is 17 years old and is on the autism spectrum. When he first started attending the center, his shyness and lack of confidence made it hard for him to fit in and he was mostly silent in group situations. After many conversations with him by staff members, encouraging his strengths and relating to him with care and warmth, Lior began to emerge from his shell. As the year progressed, a marked difference was noticeable in Lior's ability to express himself confidently and to say what he was thinking.

Neveh Ofer House

Project Description

This emergency facility is located in South Tel Aviv and provides housing and support for children who were removed from their homes by the social welfare authorities due to neglect, abuse or other issues. The program is open to children from all backgrounds who live in the area; Arabs, Jews, Olim, foreign workers' children, etc. The house's proximity to the homes where the children were raised allows for continuity in their education and relationships with classmates and teachers who positively influence their lives. Residents benefit from a warm home environment and receive daily assistance with homework from the House staff. They are also visited 2-3 times a week by a social worker to assist with their emotional needs, and by an outside tutor to provide individualized academic assistance.

- Where possible, the program promoted healthy relationships between the children and their families

Daniel* is the son of an immigrant mother and an unknown father. He came to Neve Ofer House in 2018 as his mother was unable to care for him. Till then, Daniel had regularly been engaging in risky behaviors such as roaming the streets, joining street gangs, delinquency and so on. During his first years at Neve Ofer House, Daniel's troubled behavior continued. However, with the help of a stable environment, ongoing therapy, a regular routine and above all, forming a healthy relationship with caring adults, Daniel has abandoned his previous behavior patterns and has evolved into a mature, cooperative and responsible young man. For example, since the war began, Daniel has taken it upon himself to help the younger children get to the bomb shelter during sirens, even carrying them when necessary.

Stepping Stone

Project Description

This program addresses the needs of disadvantaged at-risk teenage girls. All participants, of whom about a third are of Ethiopian descent, are referred to the program by social services. Most live in extremely challenging family situations; the majority of them have regular childcare responsibilities for younger siblings, and many have been exposed to and engaged in extremely risky behaviors and situations. This program is designed to empower these girls to recognize their ambitions and cultivate the necessary skills, relationships, and attitudes to develop into healthy young women. Program activities focus on three main areas: nutrition, mental & emotional wellbeing and education.

Quick Facts

Population served: Adolescent girls aged 13-15

Number of participants: 10

- Strengthening of healthy and meaningful relationships between the girls, and with others in their lives
- Expansion of program partnerships to include additional schools, counselors, welfare authorities and others

Ortal* has been coming to Stepping Stone for years, but has always had difficulty connecting and opening up to others. To address this problem, the program coordinator scheduled weekly one-on-one meetings with her, as she suspected Ortal was dealing with acute issues but was unable to confide in anyone. In time, thanks to the coordinator's persistence and the regular meetings, Ortal learned to trust her and shared that she was dealing with domestic abuse and anxiety attacks. The coordinator taught her self-regulation techniques which alleviated her anxiety attacks, while continued meetings helped reduce her sense of isolation. In cooperation with Ortal and the Welfare Department, options for removing from her family home are being sought.

'Come as You Are' Club for Young Women

Project Description

This club was founded in 2023 to serve girls from impoverished backgrounds living in the Jaffa Daled neighborhood in the City of Tel Aviv-Jaffa. The Club provides a safe, nurturing, warm and encouraging environment and is open to all girls in the neighborhood, promoting integration and expanding participants' opportunities for advancement and growth. Approximately 50% of participants are of Ethiopian descent. The Club forms an embracing and inclusive framework in which the girls can forge positive connections with caring adult figures, with whom they can practice resolving conflict and making connections. Programming includes social activities, shared meals, study sessions and various workshops.

Quick Facts

Population served: Adolescent girls aged 13-18

Number of participants: 20

Key Achievements

- Strong attendance of participants, with most attending whenever the club was open
- Establishment of trusting relationships between participants and program staff, manifested by increased willingness to share and confide
- Strengthening of ties between participants, who are now a cohesive group

Talia*, a teenage girl who began attending the club, started out with a great deal of resistance. She refused to take part in activities, behaved in a disruptive manner, had trouble fitting in socially and was constantly complaining that the club was boring and no fun. The staff found her challenging, but the club coordinator persisted in being kind and understanding towards her, reaching out to her and bringing her closer. For example, she made a point of finding out what Talia liked to eat and drink, and buying those items for her especially. When she discovered that Talia liked to cook, she put her in charge of preparing food at the club. The stronger Talia's relationship with the coordinator became and the more responsibilities she was given at the club, the less resistant and disruptive she was. This improvement, in turn, enabled Talia to start fitting in socially. She now attends the club regularly and with enthusiasm.

Francis*, an Accompanying the Elderly participant, loves getting visits from her volunteer and also requires a fair amount of assistance with various forms and with her phone. This year, her volunteer was a pre-military training course cadet, who visited her regularly and helped her with whatever she needed. They connected well together and formed a special bond of friendship. At the end-of-year meeting, the volunteer shared with the group his concern about having to leave her as he was being drafted into the army, indicating how significant their relationship was to him. Thankfully, she has a new volunteer now, also a cadet, who visits her regularly.

   Malachi Welfare Authorities

Batya*, a 39-year-old divorcee, victim of domestic abuse and mother of four, said: "Before I came to the course I didn't know what I was good at and what my strengths were. I lacked self-confidence and wasn't aware of my abilities. The weekly meetings with Orian empowered and focused me both personally and professionally. I acquired tools to cope with everyday issues; I found strength to persevere, to become driven and to hold down a steady job. Today, I know exactly what I'm good at, what I like doing and what my skills are. If I persevere, I will succeed!"

Hour of Need

The Jaffa Institute War Response

Since the tragic events of October 7th and particularly during the first few weeks of Iron Swords, the Israeli authorities have been struggling to meet the population's needs in at least four critical areas: Housing, Nutrition, Child Care and Education, and Mental Health. The Jaffa Institute has stepped in to address these urgent needs, capitalizing on its vast experience and expertise in providing community support to initiate a host of war-response activities in the following areas:

Housing

The Jaffa Institute opened the doors of its residential campus facility in Bet Shemesh to house, feed and care for displaced families and individuals from evacuated towns near the borders.

Nutrition

As the crisis unfolded and it became clear that evacuees and IDF soldiers were suffering from nutritional insecurity, the Jaffa Institute expanded its ongoing Food Distribution Program to include these populations, while also continuing to pack and distribute food packages for impoverished families and Holocaust survivors, more of whom have been requiring this service since the war began.

- 400 additional families receiving food packages since the start of the war
- 2000 food packages delivered to evacuees and IDF soldiers

Education and Therapy

The Jaffa Institute supplied families with computers so that children could continue their schooling with Zoom lessons and educational programs during the time schools were closed. We also created and distributed home activity packages for children containing creative art kits and videoed science activities. Additionally, we ran educational programs for evacuee children three hours each day and provided group and individual therapy sessions with qualified professionals and parental counseling.

800 children received home activity packages

Hour of Need

The Jaffa Institute War Response

Social and Enrichment Program for Evacuees:

The Jaffa Institute initiated an array of enrichment activities for evacuee children, including activities for children, such as science-based sessions, art sessions and music sessions with an emphasis on the social benefit of these activities.

• 242 hours of science and art activities reaching 700 evacuees in 7 hotels

IDF Soldiers' Needs:

The unprecedented call up of hundreds of thousands of reserve troops created logistical problems resulting in shortages of meals, clothing and equipment for the soldiers. In addition to helping meet soldiers' nutritional needs, the Jaffa Institute opened the doors of its Bet Shemesh Dormitory High School to serve as a residential and training base, and secured clothing and vital military equipment for battalions on the front.

Over 1 million shekels of equipment distributed to soldiers on the front lines

The above activities, carried out by Jaffa Institute staff members with great dedication, despite many of them having been personally affected by the war, have contributed greatly to alleviating the acute needs that have arisen within Israeli society as a result of October 7th and Iron Swords. In spite of the extreme challenges, we feel it is a privilege to be in a position to help those in need and take comfort in the knowledge that our efforts are vitally supporting the most vulnerable populations affected by the war in these most difficult of times.

Plans for 2024

Here are some of our exciting plans for 2024:

Digital literacy program for all recipients of our services.

Nationwide expansion of our Science Mobiles program.

Upgrading of our "Autotech" program.

Significant long-term assistance for evacuees from the North and the South.

Staff development and training in meeting evolving wartime needs.

Increased emphasis on closing educational gaps.
